

Retirement Communities: Quality of Life Technologies Program

This Program connects your facility in face-to-face interactions via videoconferencing with museums and science, history, cultural, and performing arts centers (content providers) as well as subject matter experts in various fields. The key to The Program is the interaction between the residents and the content providers – the asking, the answering, and the participating makes for an educative experience that engages the mind.

Turn-Key Solution

CILC will customize a cost effective, turnkey videoconference solution to improve and sustain the quality of life for your staff and residents and ensure your ongoing success. Service components include:

- A large video display, pristine audio, and a videoconferencing unit with easy to use controls (3 year refresh)
- Engineering, full installation, and service/maintenance agreement
- Access to a 24/7 Technology Help Desk
- 24 hours/year/site of consulting including Internal Support Team training
- An annual content bank account per site
- Billing and administration for content programs
- Website Help Line

Competitive Edge

The utilization of videoconferencing services

- Attracts private pay residents.
- Increases and maintains your census.
- Improves staff retention and proficiency.
- Raises your status above the competition.
